A group of approximately 15 people, including men and women in professional attire, standing behind a large conference table in a meeting room. The group consists of men in shirts and trousers, and women in sarees. They are positioned behind a long, dark wooden conference table.

The conference table is set with several microphones, papers, and refreshments. There are white coffee cups on saucers and plates of biscuits or snacks placed at intervals along the table. The room has a modern interior with recessed ceiling lights and wood-paneled walls.
